Detailed Reviewer's Report

- The writing has many grammatical mistakes and unclear sentences.
- Some scientific words are used incorrectly.
- The discussion section mostly repeats the results and doesn't explain why the results matter or how they compare to past studies.
- It's not clear if the human blood used for haemolysis was ethically sourced.
- No proper statistical tests (like t-test or ANOVA) were used to support the data.
- Some units and labels are used differently in different places.
- Images are blurry and not well-labeled.
- Some references are incomplete or not properly formatted.
- Abstract needs to be written clearly
- The conclusion is too general and should mention the main results of the study.
- There are many unnecessary spaces and formatting errors.
