Reviewer's Comment for Publication.

(To be published with the manuscript in the journal)

The reviewer is requested to provide a brief comment (3-4 lines) highlighting the significance, strengths, or key insights of the manuscript. This comment will be Displayed in the journal publication alongside with the reviewers name.

This manuscript presents a comprehensive and insightful analysis of China's economic growth since 1978 and its implications for Indonesia's economic development. It successfully combines historical economic data, case studies, and theoretical frameworks such as dependency theory and endogenous growth theory. The integration of mixed methods and the use of updated quantitative data enhance the validity and relevance of the research. The discussion of risks such as environmental degradation, debt dependency, and corruption is well balanced with mitigation strategies. However, the manuscript could benefit from improved clarity in transitioning between sections and slightly more critical evaluation of China's limitations in the context of Indonesia's democratic governance structure. There are some minor language and formatting issues, but they do not impede understanding. Overall, the article is highly informative, timely, and policy-relevant.

Accept after minor revision.....

Justification: While the content is strong, the paper would benefit from minor refinements. These include improving paragraph transitions, correcting a few grammatical inconsistencies, and enhancing critical comparison of governance differences between China and Indonesia. These revisions would polish the manuscript without altering its core contributions.
