Detailed Reviewer's Report

The manuscript presents a relevant and timely investigation with a generally logical structure and adequate coverage of background literature; however, several aspects require improvement before it can be considered for publication, including clearer articulation of the research problem and objectives, stronger justification of the study's originality, tighter alignment between the literature review and the proposed hypotheses or research questions, more detailed explanation of the methodology (sampling procedure, instruments, validity and reliability measures, and data-analysis techniques), clearer and more consistently formatted tables and figures, improved interpretation of statistical results rather than descriptive repetition, deeper theoretical integration in the discussion section, careful language editing to correct grammatical and stylistic issues, reduction of redundancy across sections, and a more focused conclusion highlighting key findings, implications, limitations, and directions for future research, as these revisions would substantially enhance the rigor, clarity, and academic contribution of the work.
